

Chris Holloway FCILT
Director CILT North America

Chris Holloway is a Director on the Board of the Chartered Institute of Logistics and Transport in North America. He is also a senior Ottawa-based consultant with 26 years experience in transport planning, organizational design and development, human resources, teaching and related writing, communications and editorial experience. Chris has superior interpersonal communication skills, and has demonstrated strength in an ability to achieve results in unstructured working environments. He has completed a number of projects for clients within government, travel, transportation and the communications sector over the course of his career. He is a Fellow of the Chartered Institute of Logistics and Transport in North America.

Chris holds a diploma in Community Resources from Sheridan College in Oakville and an Honours B.A. from the University of Guelph in Urban and Industrial Sociology. He has also completed two years of study in Civil and Constitutional Law at Laval University. Chris is bilingual.

Mr. Holloway is a previous President of the Ottawa Chapter of the CILT and has served as a Member of the Board of Directors and Secretary over a period of 12 years. Over this time, Chris has had many notable achievements. In a two year span, he developed two 20-chapter Manuals of Investigation Operations for Rail and Pipeline Investigators at the Transportation Safety Board of Canada. He planned, initiated and managed the Transportation Environment Action Plan for the City of Ottawa and also coordinated Environment Canada's Public Awareness Program to reduce emissions that lead to urban smog.

Chris was the first to develop an action plan for Transport Canada to nationally assist provinces, regions and municipalities to facilitate best practices in Sustainable Transportation involving the design and implementation of transport systems to minimize environmental and energy use impacts. He continues to work as a senior consultant in Human Resources and Organizational Design for many federal government departments and agencies.
